Move to Limit Filibuster Is Defeated

WASHINGTON (AP)—An effort to limit Senate debate on a motion to consider a stringer filibuster rule failed today to muster even a majority. A two-thirds margin was required if debate was to be limited.

The vote was 37 for limiting debate and 43 against. With 60 senators voting, the motion would have had to receive 54 votes for adoption.

The outcome doomed a session and move by leaders of both parties for adoption of a new Senate rule that would permit filibusters to be halted by three-fifths of the senators voting.

Under present rules, a two-thirds vote is required to limit debate.

Just before today's vote Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic leader, had announced that if the tally were "fairly close," he would immediately file another petition to force a second test.

As it turned out, the vote to shut off debate was 17 short of the required two-thirds margin of senators voting. This was a more one-sided rejection of the move than had been anticipated.

The failure to obtain even a majority washed out a planned move of Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., to challenge the constitutionality of the present two-thirds requirement for choking off debate.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican leader, had supported Mansfield in the move to limit debate on the motion.

The outcome was a smashing victory for Southern Senators who argued that the proposed tightening of the present anti-filibuster rule was a politically inspired move aimed at gagging the Senate and clearing the way for passage of civil rights legislation.

VFW Holds a Fish Fry for Reserves

"Faith, Hope and Courage," was the subject of the message which State VFW Chaplain Clifton Bell brought to the men assembled last Saturday night at the VFW Hut when the Ramsey-Carlie Post honored the 238th Army Reserve Unit with a fish fry. Houston Kitchens received recognition as the only member of the local VFW post who is also in the 238th Reserves.

Post Commander Thomas B. "Skeeter" Fenwick Jr., welcomed the group of approximately 100 men and introduced the past post commander, George Walden and Royce Weisenberger, each gave a short talk. Jack Cannon and his band provided music.

Many people worked hard for the success of the fish fry. Those serving as cooks were Johnny Britt, Bobby Hendrix and Jack Fountain. Sgt. Coe of Prescott expressed appreciation on behalf of the honored reserve unit.

Russia Asks UN to Seat Red China

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union formally moved today for the seating of Communist China in the United Nations.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko requested that the 99-nation General Assembly place on its agenda a question titled: "Restoration of the lawful rights of the People's Republic of China in the United Nations."

The assembly is expected to give the China question a full airing after 10 years of postponement. But it is unlikely that the problem will be taken up under the controversial title proposed by the Soviet Union.

Informed quarters said the United States would not oppose a China debate this year, but would seek to refer the question to a study committee which would report back at the 1962 session of the assembly.

Storm Warning Sent Ahead of New Hurricane

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Severe Hurricane Esther whirled toward the North Carolina coast today and the Weather Bureau said it might issue hurricane warnings for that area by noon.

The big and dangerous storm, with winds up to 150 miles per hour near the center and hurricane force winds—74 miles per hour or more—extending 200 miles around it, was moving on a northwest course at 1 miles per hour.

The giant storm was located at 2 a. m. about 400 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras, N.C., and 600 miles from the coast.

Sabotage Not Ruled Out in Plane Crash That Killed UN Head

Two National Guard Divisions Called to Duty

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two National Guard divisions—the 32nd Infantry of Wisconsin and the 48th Armored of Texas—are being called to active duty.

Announcement of this action was expected at an afternoon news conference scheduled by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

The two guard divisions, along with two others, were put on notice Sept. 6 that they faced possible call-up.

The other two divisions given priority ratings and slated for reinforcement to full strength are the 26th Infantry of Massachusetts and the 28th Infantry of Pennsylvania.

Call-up of the Wisconsin and Texas divisions will raise Army strength to 16 divisions. In addition, there are three combat-ready Marine divisions.

Dist. Cancer Group to Meet Here

There will be a meeting of the 12th District of the American Society Thursday, Sept. 21 at 4 a. m. at Diamond Cafe, Counties in the district are Howard, Little River, Sevier and Hempstead.

Heads of the Arkansas Division, Little Rock, will be present. During the business session directors will be elected to represent the district. The film "Life Story" will be shown.

Mrs. Cecil Bittle, Hope, was recently elected president of the newly reactivated Hempstead County Unit of the American Cancer Society.

In addition to election of officers plans were made for expanding the educational and service program of the society. Mrs. Earl O'Neal was appointed chairman of the Education Committee and Mrs. O. B. Hodnett, chairman of the Service Committee.

Through the educational program which seeks to alert people to recognize danger signals of cancer and to see their doctor for early diagnosis and treatment the society hopes to reduce the death rate from cancer in Hempstead County, which last year took the lives of 27 citizens.

In connection with the service program, a loan closet has been established in Hope and any cancer patient in need of dressings, a hospital bed, wheel chair, colostomy appliance, or other items necessary for sick-room care may obtain them by contacting Mrs. Hodnett, the service chairman.

The Certificates of appreciation were presented by Bill Eiwini, Field Representative of the American Cancer Society to Mrs. Bittle and Mrs. William Schooley, who had leading roles in the 1961 Crusade which raised $1,057.

A book, "The Truth About Cancer," by Dr. Charles S. Cameron, is being presented to the local County Library, Mr. Erwin said.

Other officers elected were Mrs. William Schooley, vice president and Crusade Director for 1962. Mrs. Cecil Weaver, secretary and publicity chairman, Mrs. Steve Carrigan, Memorial Fund chairman.

Mrs. W. B. Teague, 74, Succumbs in Local Rest Home

Mrs. Ethel Willis Teague, aged 74, died today in a local rest home. She had been a resident of Hope for the past 10 years and was a member of the Methodist Church.

Survivors include her husband, W. B. Teague of Hope; a daughter, Mrs. Sam Andrews of Hope; two sisters, Mrs. J. W. Williams of Harrisburg, Ark., Mrs. C. W. Morgan of Jonesboro.

Services will be held at 4 p. m. Wednesday at Oakcrest Chapel by the Rev. Rufus Sorrells. Interment will be in Friendship Cemetery by Oakcrest Funeral Service.

Bulletin

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Space Agency announced today selection of the Houston, Texas, area as the site of its laboratory for manned space flight research.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army confirmed today that Ft. Chaffee, Ark., will be reopened as a training base.

The Army said units previously instructed to report to Ft. Polk, La., would report instead to Ft. Chaffee. The 52 49th Armored Division will be sent to Ft. Polk.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Eight Arkansas Army Reserve and National Guard units were among 249 called today to active duty Oct. 15.

They are: 296th Medical Co., Guard, Booneville; 687th Medical Detachment (team KB), Reserve, Little Rock; 307th Medical Detachment (team KA), Reserve, Little Rock; 444th Ordnance Co., Reserve, Fayetteville; 489th Engineer Bn., (Combat), Reserve, Pine Bluff; 806th Engineer Co., Reserve, Conway; 148th Evacuation Hospital, Guard, Little Rock; 404th Ordnance Co., Guard, Monticello.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas House quickly disposed of the congressional redistricting question—Prime order of business in this special session—by giving 99-0 approval to a compromise plan today.

Cries of "call the roll" broke out as soon as Cleveland County Rep. Raymond Mays called the bill for a vote.

However, two representatives, Gean P. Houston of Cleburne County and Grover C. Carnes of Arkansas County made brief talks on behalf of the bill.

The House acted on the redistricting bill immediately after passing a bill to provide for its own expenses during the session.

Jefferson and Lincoln Counties would be transferred from a new northeast Arkansas district to a new southern district, Arkansas County, from the northeast to a north central district.

Chaffee to Re-open Soon Fulbright Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara was expected to formally announce today that Ft. Chaffee near Fort Smith, Ark., will be reactivated soon.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., disclosed Monday night that President Kennedy had notified him of the Army's plans to reopen the sprawling facility which was a basic training center during World War II and the Korean War.

The exact use the Army will make of the post when it is reactivated would be disclosed later by the Defense Department, Fulbright said. Reactivation might come as early as next month, he said.

Ft. Chaffee is currently headquarters for the XI Army Corps, which controls Army Reserve activities in Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma.

Many Reserve and National Guard units take summer training there.

Ft. Chaffee closed at the end of World War II only to reopen in 1948 as a basic training training center.

It was put on a standby basis in 1949 and reactivated the next year.

It has been used since 1953 only for the headquarters and reserve purposes.

The post has training facilities for about 20,000 troops at present. During its peak operation, Ft. Chaffee provided training facilities for about 40,000 men.

Lone Survivor Tells of Series of Explosions

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

NIOOLA, Northern Rhodesia (AP)—An aerial attack or sabotage were seen today as possible causes of the fatal plane crash that killed Dag Hammarskjold and sent tremors of fear around the world.

The lone survivor, Harry Julien, an American U.N. security guard, was quoted as saying a series of explosions shook the plane before it plowed into a forest preserve eight miles north of Ndola Monday and burned. Twelve others perished with the U.N. secretary-general.

Owners of the plane, the Swedish Air Co., said in Leopoldville the plane might have been shot down by a jet fighter from rebellious Katanga's tiny air force.

discuss a cease-fire between U.N. and Katanga forces with Katanga President Moise Tshombe when disaster struck.

A U.N. spokesman said neither gunfire nor sabotage could be ruled out. British and Rhodesian authorities launched an investigation.

As the bodies of Hammarskjold and the other victims were brought to the Ndola hospital mortuary, the world's uneasy capitals worried about the effect of his death on the United Nations.

Tributes were paid to Hammarskjold and his ceaseless efforts for peace around the world. In many parts of Europe and elsewhere, fears were expressed that his death and Soviet stalling tactics might jeopardize the future of the United Nations.

In New York, the U.N. General Assembly was opening one of its most crucial sessions. Western diplomats strove to prevent the Soviet Union, arch foe of Hammarskjold, from paralyzing the United Nations' work by delaying the appointment of a successor.

Hammarskjold's death prompted President Kennedy to decide to go before the United Nations Friday or Monday to affirm "at a time of crisis for the United Nations," support for the United Nations and its principles, a White House spokesman said.

Hammarskjold's death posed grave problems for the United Nations and its Congo operation. He had been a major cementing factor in the world organization and the U.N. Congo force was his own idea to keep the new nation from lapsing into anarchy.

The search for his successor must be conducted under Communist pressure to replace the office of secretary-general with a three-man board of Communist, neutral and Western representatives, each with a veto. This probably would paralyze the world organization.

Maneuvering in the wake of Hammarskjold's death is likely to impede U.N. debate on the Berlin crisis and other pressing problems.

The death of Hammarskjold also leaves the Congo on the brink of chaos. U.N. troops, who went on the offensive last week to disarm Tshombe's troops and bring Katanga's mineral wealth back under the Congo's central government, were still fighting Tshombe's army.

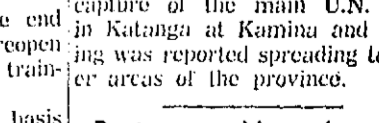

Katanga's forces claimed the capture of the main U.N. base in Katanga at Kamina and fighting was reported spreading to other areas of the province.

Storm Warning

miles due east of Jacksonville, Fla.

The Georgia and Florida coasts were clear of the storm, but all interests from Savannah, Ga., northward were told to listen for future advisories.

Forecaster Gilbert Clark said indications were the storm would continue on its present path for the next few hours with no important changes in size or direction.

Persons in the path of the storm already were taking precautions. The Navy sent 240 airplanes to inland fields and a number of ships left Norfolk, Va., as pre-cautionary measures.

The aircraft carriers Randolph, Wasps and Valley Forge put to sea and other naval vessels headed for anchorage in Chesapeake Bay to escape the fury of the winds.

Two Texas towers off the New England coast were evacuated. The towers are radar stations that form part of the U.S. Canadian defense warning system.

The towers are on shoals 80 to 100 miles offshore. A spokesman for the air defense sector said he did not know how many men were evacuated. A similar tower off the New Jersey coast collapsed during a storm last January with a loss of 28 lives.

If the storm should strike the North Carolina coast, as its present path indicated, it would follow such destructive giants as Hurricane Hazel which moved in over eastern North Carolina in 1954 and caused $750-million damage.

Small portions of Hurricane Esther were seeded with silver iodide during the weekend when she passed near Puerto Rico but Weather Bureau scientists reported no apparent effects on movement or intensity of the storm.

Robert Simpson, deputy director of meteorological research for the Washington Weather Bureau, called it a "preliminary type of test."

"A very small area of the hurricane was seeded because it's a big thing and we wanted to measure what we were doing," Simpson said in Miami Monday night.

Simpson said he hoped to have preliminary estimates of the results "in several weeks" and hoped to seed other hurricanes this fall.

GALVESTON REVISITED—"Only Yesterday" might well be the title of this picture of a flooded section of Galveston, Tex. This was not hurricane Carla, however, but the aftermath of the great hurricane and tidal wave of September 8, 1900, which claimed 5,000 lives. An interesting sidelight is that the Galveston disaster was the last occasion in which Clara Barton, who was 78, actively participated in relief work. One example of Red Cross aid in 1900 was the replacement of 1.5 million strawberry plants that were swept away in the flood. A box of the first strawberries from the new crop was later sent to Miss Barton. Today, the Red Cross carries on in the tradition of its founder.

Charles Wood and Robert Hanel filed suit contesting the outcome of the election, in which Wood apparently lost to J. T. Brown by 10 votes and Harris apparently was defeated by George Textor by one vote.

Wood and Harris contended that 21 illegal votes had been cast for their opponents. In an answer and cross complaint, Brown and Textor denied those allegations and contended that Wood received 20 illegal votes and Harris, 16.

Sentence in Bomb Case Is Upheld

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court today affirmed a five-year prison sentence against Herbert Odell Monts, a 17-year-old Negro convicted in an integration-related bombing.

Monts was tried in Pulaski Circuit Court in connection with an explosion which damaged the home of Carlotta Walls, a Negro student at integrated Central High School, Feb. 9, 1960. No one was hurt.

The girl was one of nine Negroes who broke the race barrier at Central in 1957. She was graduated in the spring of 1960.

Earlier this year, the Supreme Court reversed the conviction of Maceo Antonio Binns, a 32-year-old Negro, charged in the same bombing.

The court held that an alleged confession by Binns should not have been introduced in the trial. Binns' lawyers contended the lower court should not have permitted police officers to testify about an alleged confession by Monts. The Supreme Court said the trial judge acted properly in permitting the jury to determine whether the confession was voluntary and could be considered.

The Supreme Court ruling in Monts case came on the heels of the release from prison of the last of five white men convicted in a Labor Day 1959 integration-linked bombing.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus reduced the three-year sentence of E. A. Lauderdale Sr., 50, and he was freed last week. Earlier this year, J. D. Sims was paroled from a five-year sentence and Jesse Perry and John T. Coggins were paroled from three-year terms.

The fifth man, Samuel G. Beavers, received a five-year suspended sentence because of ill health.

The five were convicted in school expulsions which damaged school board headquarters, the mayor's business office and a city-owned Fire Department station wagon.

Says Fallout Danger Is Exaggerated

EDITOR'S NOTE: A dreaded byproduct of nuclear blast is radioactive fallout. How great is the danger it presents to human survival. In this last of three articles an eminent atomic scientist argues for a calm appraisal.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

As'otiated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A frequent prediction about nuclear war is that radioactive fallout will poison the earth and all forms of life.

"This is certainly not true," says Dr. Edward Teller, one of the world's most prominent nuclear physicists.

"The danger of radioactivity has been grossly exaggerated. 'We must do everything possible to avoid war. But if, despite that, war does come, unreasonable fear of radioactivity could lead to panic and to widespread, needless loss of life.

"For example, popular writings have even suggested that radiation sickness can be transmitted from persons to persons, like a contagious disease.

"If there were a war, this means a person who had been exposed to radiation might be denied admission to a shelter from fear of him.

"Instead, the humane thing would be to try to save his life. His contaminated clothing should be removed, and treatment started for radiation sickness. Care should be taken to dispose safely of his radioactive body wastes. But that victim could not really harm others in the shelter."

Radiation is the new and to most people mysterious—element in nuclear weapons.

Immediate radiation, mainly in the form of neutrons, can kill persons close enough to the bomb center.

More insidiously, the bomb releases a cloud of radioactivity which is carried away by winds, then falls to earth. It forms a heavy pattern on the ground near the explosion, then rapidly decreases in intensity.

But for years, radioactivity can rain down around the earth in the form of long-lasting radioactive atoms, such as strontium-90.

This fallout generated a violent political and scientific controversy as to the danger only from tests, and the moral question of DETROIT (AP)—General Motors resumed limited passenger car production today for the first time since a wave of wildcat strikes halted output at the huge auto maker's 129 plants Sept. 11.

More than 9,000 assembly line workers returned to GM's Oldsmobile plant in Lansing, Mich., following final agreement Monday on local plant issues between the company and the United Auto Workers Union.

GM's GMC Truck and Coach Division resumed production at Pontiac, Mich., Monday.

New cars rolled off the Oldsmobile line as GM and UAW negotiators pressed for final agreement on local issues at 39 other plants.

The resumption of production added to hopes of a complete nationwide agreement before Wednesday's meeting of the union's GM national council.

Adding to hopes of a final contract and subsequent resumption of full production at all GM plants was the announcement today of local agreement at the Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac plant in Linden, N.J. Settlement of the Linden dispute was believed to signal a break in the log jam of local disputes at key GM plants still out.

Going into today's negotiations, Louis G. Seaton, GM bargaining chief, said "as seriously as both sides are trying to arrive at a settlement, I don't see why we shouldn't be able to make it."

Both Seaton and UAW president Walter P. Reuther said progress had been made overnight. At a midnight recess of previous talks neither seemed pessimistic.

Today is decision day because the UAW's 280 member General Motors Council has been summoned to meet at 2 p.m. Wednesday to approve or reject a new contract. The council is made up of local union presidents and shop committee men from across the country.

Chinese Editor Deflects to West

HONG KONG (AP)—Eric Chou, one of the top editors of Hong Kong's Communist newspaper Ta Kung Pao, has defected to the West, friends said Sunday.

Chou reportedly left Hong Kong by plane for London last week and is believed to have asked the British government for political asylum. The independent newspaper Hong Kong Tiger Standard reported Chou had gone to the United Kingdom.

Chou's wife, Josephine, a teacher at Hong Kong University, told reporters she did not know where he was. A spokesman for Ta King Poo said Chou is on sick leave.

spreading contamination in order to test weapons.

Everyone agrees humans have always lived in a constant small sea of radiation from natural sources such as cosmic rays and radioactive rocks.

All agree the further radioactivity from fallout has added—thus far—only about 2 per cent more to the natural radioactivity.

At this point, even the scientists split.

Some hold the added radioactivity means hundreds to thousands of babies will be born deformed, or stillborn, and that elements such as strontium-90 will cause or are causing more human cancer.

Other scientists including Dr. Teller insist there has been no damage yet, or that the added risk is so tiny to measure. The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission takes this official view.

"The present amounts of radioactivity are so small that animal experiments show no effects," Dr. Teller says.

"We are scared about very small amounts, such as the strontium-90 found in milk. But we could take 100 times more, and still consume it safely.

"If we were 1,000 times more, we would drink the milk or eat vegetables, if we were hungry, even though it might give us a slightly greater chance, say, of getting cancer later in life.

"But if it were 10,000 times more, then we should consider carefully how the intake of radioactivity can be reduced."

All-out war would vastly increase the radioactive fallout.

But Dr. Teller says the lethal and damaging genetic effects—should this happen—have been exaggerated also.

"And we are just beginning to learn how to combat the effects of radiation, to remove it from food or water, or remove radioactivity from the body, and to devise antidotes," he notes.

Radioactive atoms on the ground might be blown under, he said. Or research may find means of breeding crops which selectively removed radioactivity (and were themselves thrown away on harvest) or crops which take up little of the dangerous types of atoms.

"The point is that overdrawn fear of radioactivity could paralyze us, and lead to foolish action if the tragedy of war came upon us," Dr. Teller contends.

Lack of adequate civil defense in the United States, he suggested, constitutes in effect an invitation to attack, and he added: "We should start right now, without further delay."

Legislature Has Received Twelve Bills

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Twelve bills were introduced in the House and 10 in the Senate Monday after the Arkansas Legislature convened for its second special session of the year.

Congressional redistricting, the major business for which the session was called, appeared to be the matter least likely to cause any trouble.

A compromise bill to take care of redistricting had 93 signatures when introduced in the House and 13 signatures in the Senate.

The major dispute of the special session is likely to develop over appropriations for state, district and county livestock shows.

The lawmakers declined to provide $417,000 for the livestock shows during their August session. It will take a three-fourths majority—75 House votes and 27 in the Senate—to pass them at the current session.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus said in his address to legislators Monday that livestock shows deserve much credit for agricultural advances in recent years because they provide incentive to farmers and farm youth.

Money for the shows would come from a State Institutional Construction Fund.

Under a revised plan for the fund introduced Monday, the first $517,000 according to it would go to the livestock shows and the Arkansas Children's Colony.

County livestock shows would get $142,000, the four district shows would share in $75,000 and the state livestock exposition would receive $200,000.

The Children's Colony would get $100,000, in addition to $400,000 appropriated for the institution at the August session. Faubus signed this bill Monday and vetoed a $753,000 colony measure.

The $517,000 would be taken from the fund before money for phase two construction at the University of Arkansas and seven state-supported colleges.

A special fund within the permanent construction fund would provide $275,000 for a second vocational training school and $60,300 to operate an overall board of control for the state's institutions of higher learning.

By using the fund-within-a-fund, for which appropriations will require only a bare majority vote, the administration appeared to have headed off any controversy over money for the training school and college board.

Opponents of the college board, which was set up at the first special session, still might swing enough support to defeat the appropriation and thus leave the board unable to operate. But it will be harder.

The appropriation for the vocational school was considered a certainty.

Laos is about twice the size of Pennsylvania.

The congressional redistricting compromise would prevent candidates for the U.S. House from having to run from the state at large in 1962.

The 1961 regular session passed a redistricting bill which was referred to a popular vote at the 1962 general election when opponents in Jefferson, Lincoln and Arkansas counties were successful in a petition drive.

The compromise plan would put Jefferson and Lincoln counties in the new 4th District and Arkansas County in the new 2nd District.

The Senate got Faubus' nomination for the 10-member overall college board Monday and indications were that the upper chamber would act on them swiftly.

Laos is about twice the size of Pennsylvania.

Young Father of Three Prefers Older Woman

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I am single, 32, and I met a married man, 25, with three children. He was married at 20 when his wife was 18. He says he was married too young and regrets it.

They are not happy and he'd give anything to be single again. He is kind-hearted and intelligent, a truly understanding man. He says his wife nags at him all the time.

He loves me a lot and wishes he could have me for his own but he wants to know me better. I have known him for three months.

He's not keeping me from going with others. What bothers me most is his children. He loves them but he has nothing in common with his wife. I don't think he should continue living with his wife because life is too long to be miserable. He didn't ask me how old I was but I told him and he said he preferred older girls. What do you think I should do? —Miss N.

Dear Miss N.: I think you should tell this charming father of three children to go home and play with them, take care of them, help his wife, and spend his time with her. Perhaps his wife would stop nagging if he became a good husband and father.

You are quite right; life is too long to be miserable, and there's only misery for you in going on with this affair. This young man sounds like a real misery-maker.

Dear Helen: I have a man-side problem and I need advice. My boy friend and I have been going together for about seven months. We were graduated from high school this year and we are 18. As soon as school was out, my mother kicked me out of the house. I had no place to go, except my boy friend's house. I now have been living there for about two months. He said he loved me, and promised to marry me this summer. Lately he has been dating other girls.

Should I keep on living at his home until he marries me. If he does, or just leave and go live with my father in Idaho? I love him very much, and I want to marry him badly. —Two Timed

Dear Two-Timed: It takes two loves to make a marriage, and apparently your boy friend has cooled. You will find another and greater love in your life.

Your letter is too brief to tell me many of the things I would like to know about your situation—why your mother kicked you out, whether you are working and can pay for board and room, whether your father would like to have you come to live with him. (If he would, I suggest you visit him.)

Then your boy friend may decide he would like to have you come back, or you may decide that you can live without him—or you may even find another boy friend! In any case, it doesn't seem advisable to me that you should continue to live in his home, whether or not he has lost interest in you.

Dear Helen: Today it may be hard to tell good from bad. Even you said that a boy with a bad reputation should be left alone. Well, the boy I married had been in the reformatory two times, had been married before, and just about everything. But I had faith in him, and now no two people could be happier than we are. We have a little girl one year old, we have faith, and most of all we trust each other. He has said many times that if it were not for me he would have made more mistakes. Now he would not steal a five-cent candy bar.

Sometimes, trust, faith, and God can help a boy become a man. So I say there is good in everyone. —Mrs. J. K.

Dear Mrs. J. K.: Thank you for your story I must point out, however, that it has taken patience and courage to help your husband become the man he is now. Such a project is not easy, and it should not be attempted unless there is sufficient love and faith to carry it through. I'm glad or you both that you have succeeded. Congratulations!

Episcopal Group in Conference

DETROIT (AP)—"And here we offer and present unto thee, O Lord, ourselves, our souls and bodies, to be a reasonable, holy and living sacrifice unto thee."

Thousands of knees bent, a sea of heads bowed. The immemorial pledge of service, given in partaking of the Lord's Supper, today formed the prelude to the opening business session of the Episcopal Church's Triennial General Convention.

Also setting the tone for the occasion was a call from the presiding bishop, the Rt. Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger, for bolder action in projecting the Christian message into the world.

"The church is to be concerned with all that affects man's life in this world, with economics and politics and public morality," he told a gathering of 15,000 Sunday night.

"Those individuals and groups in our country today, who in the name of the Gospel and patriotism tell us that the church must not speak out on such public issues, do not, I submit, understand the Gospel or know the meaning of true patriotism."

The question is a heated one throughout Protestantism, and it faces a test at the current convention, with some delegates urging that the church steer clear of so-called political matters.

State Mineral Production Up

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas' mineral production climbed to a record level in 1960, up 9 per cent from the previous year. A report by the federal Bureau of Mines and the Arkansas Geological and Conservation Commission set the value of 1960 mineral production at $153.8 million.

Teachers to Vote Retirement Plan

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas public teachers vote Wednesday on whether to add federal Social Security coverage to their existing retirement program. About 15,300 teachers and school officials will be eligible to take part in the mail ballot.

NEW YORK (AP)—Comedian Alan King made friends and influenced ratings last season on "The Gary Moore Show." This inspired the Moore production staff to develop a separate "Alan King Show." After all, the system worked with "Candid Camera," once a Moore feature.

So Monday night, with most of this season's new shows still to make their debuts, CBS presented Alan King in a one-shot, half-hour special with the announced idea that if the public liked it it might turn up as a regular feature later this year in the event of some program casualties, or next season.

King is a pretty funny stand-up comedian monologist and his specialty is a wry assault on the joys of suburban family life. As the show turned out, King proved to be funnier just telling about his problems than trying to act them out in a situation comedy.

Speaking of situation comedy, the "Pete and Gladys" people are certainly crazy about "I Love Lucy." The CBS show returned Monday night with Carol Williams looking and acting even more like Lucille Ball than ever. The Pete Porters have even acquired a couple-who-live-next-door and the plot certainly reminded one of the good old Lucy-Desi days. Unhappily, it lacks the spirit and verve

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carver

An arch of magnolia leaves flanked by candelabra and white tapers was the background for the wedding of Miss Mary Mathenia daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Mathenia of Steel, Mo. and Frank Carver on Thursday, Sept. 14, at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Carver, in the presence of the immediate families and friends. Carries placed throughout the rooms formed a soft candlelight effect for the evening ceremony performed by Dr. John McClanahan. A white brocade sheath touched with blue was worn by the bride with a white orchid corsage at her shoulder. She wore a white feather hat.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Jerry Brown. Jerry Brown served as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony, cake and punch were served. The brides table was overlaid with a white lace cloth and a centerpiece of white carnation and magnolia leaves carried out the green and white theme.

After a wedding trip to Louisiana the couple will make their home in Monroe, La., where he will attend his Junior year in College.

"Ichabod and Me," incidentally, comes to weekly television after two try-outs of the characters in the old "Robert Montgomery Presents" anthology series.

The first, in 1956, was called "Good Bye Gray Flannel," and George Chandler was cast as the shrewd old New Englander, Ichabod. Lee Bowman played Robert Major, the role now filled by Robert Sterling. The following year, a sequel, "One Smart Apple," was written for Chandler.

Rusk Meets Red Minister This Week

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk will try to find out from Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko here this week whether the Soviet Union is ready to negotiate on a compromise settlement of the Berlin crisis or intends to press its demands at increasing risk of war.

High Western diplomats said the fateful issue of war or peace has seldom been more starkly presented in modern diplomacy than it will be in the impending United States-Soviet talks.

Rusk came to New York from Washington Sunday night, following a three-day policy conference with the foreign ministers of Britain, France and West Germany. He said he wants to know from Gromyko whether there is "a basis for serious negotiations on the questions raised by the Soviet Union in the past months."

Gromyko, who reached New York by plane Saturday night, would not say whether he was optimistic or pessimistic. He commented: "We'll see each other, we'll meet, and we'll talk."

Both men are here to attend the U.N. General Assembly session opening Tuesday. Rusk said they would "probably be seeing each other" at that time.

Rusk is expected to tell Gromyko that the United States and its allies will not tolerate interference with aircraft flying in the corridors to West Berlin across East German territory. There were several instances last week of Soviet fighter craft buzzing civilian airliners.

He also plans to advise Gromyko that the Western powers will not negotiate with the Soviet Union on peace treaties with a divided Germany or on the terms of a separate peace

Seek Cause of Crash That Killed 37

CHICAGO (AP)—"No Control!" These frantic last words from a plunging Northwest Airlines Electra provided a major clue for investigators seeking the cause of a crash Sunday that took 37 lives.

Thirty-two passengers—including a mother and her four young children—and the crew of five died as the Florida-bound flight ended in a muddy field southwest of O'Hare International Airport within a minute after takeoff. There were no survivors.

The Electra crash was the second major air disaster in the Chicago area this month. On Sept. 1 a Trans World Airlines Constellation crashed near suburban Clarendon Hills minutes after its departure from Midway Airport. Seventy-eight persons died in that accident.

The final words from the Northwest plane—"no control"—as it spun to earth from a height estimated variously at 200 to 300 feet were recorded at the O'Hare control tower. Other words from the pilot or copilot of the doomed plane were lost in an overlay from another pilot calling the control tower.

Attempts will be made to separate the messages on the record. The Northwest Airlines flight originated in Milwaukee, Wis. It was bound for Tampa, Fort Lauderdale and Miami, Fla., with a stop at Chicago where it took on 24 passengers. Eight had boarded the plane in Milwaukee.

Federal aviation officials after a cursory examination of wreckage and witnesses accounts said the plane probably did not crash because of engine failure, an obvious structural fault or sabotage. Witnesses said the prop-jet Electra reached an altitude of several hundred feet, then faltered with East Germany. Khrushchev has proposed separate peace settlements with East and West Germany, as opposed to the long-standing Western insistence on German unification.

Western diplomats said that if Gromyko sticks inflexibly to the Khrushchev line, the Western powers will not negotiate and the danger of a military showdown, especially over use of the air corridors, will increase.

If Gromyko is prepared to agree to a broad negotiation on the problems of Berlin and Germany and related issues of European security, informants said, an East-West foreign ministers conference in late October or early November, probably at Geneva, seems certain.

Maris Has to Turn Trend to Beat Record

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Roger Maris, held to a pair of singles in 18 official efforts at Baltimore's Memorial Stadium must accomplish an amazing flip-flop and tag two home runs in three games at the Orioles' home park to tie Babe Ruth's home run record.

The Stadium's hard-to-scale walls, a Baltimore pitching staff that has allowed Maris only one home run all season and the distinct possibility of a visit from Hurricane Esther all bar Roger's way to the Bambino's 34-year-old record.

Maris, with 56 home runs and a one-game edge over Ruth's record 60 homer pace of 1927, begins his final "official" assault on the mark in a two-night doubleheader tonight, then winds it up in a night game Wednesday under the 154th decision allotment decreed by Commissioner Ford Frick.

The Orioles' mound corps and the Stadium's distant home run territory have combined to limit opposing sluggers to only 42 homers in 75 games, and have completely contained Maris. His lone homer, off Chuck Estrada, came at Yankee Stadium May 21.

Hurricane Esther, meanwhile, has picked up speed and threatens to jumble the schedule in the final drive for No. 60.

The two nighters, in which Maris will face left-hander Steve Barber (16-11) and righthander Skinny Brown (10-4) plus Wednesday and Thursday night games closes out the New York Yankees' schedule at Baltimore and takes them on to Boston, also in the path of the onrushing hurricane.

Barber, with seven shutouts this year, and Brown have allowed only 12 homers each this season. Righthander Milt Pappas (12-3) slated to start game No. 3 for the Orioles, has permitted only 13 go per batters.

Whitey Ford (24-3) and Bud Daley (11-17) will go for New York in the two-nighter, with the Yankees 10½ games ahead of the second place Detroit Tigers.

Any combination of two New York victories or Detroit defeats will give the Yankees their 26th pennant.

In the National League, the idle Cincinnati Reds moved four games ahead of second place Los Angeles and reduced their magic number to seven when the Dodgers were beaten by the Chicago Cubs 5-3. San Francisco edged Milwaukee 3-2 and Pittsburgh beat St. Louis 6-6 in other scheduled games.

Sentence Upheld by High Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The three-year sentence of Mrs. Bonnie Connelly of Hot Springs for the shooting death of her estranged husband was affirmed today by the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Mrs. Connelly was convicted of manslaughter in Garland Circuit Court in the April 28, 1959, pistol slaying of Joseph E. Connelly. She pleaded self defense.

It was the second time the Supreme Court had considered the Connelly case.

A 14-year sentence for second degree murder was reversed last year on grounds that improper testimony was admitted at the trial.

Connelly died in his station wagon a short distance from Mrs. Connelly's home, where witnesses testified the shooting took place. The Connellys had been separated for several months.

Alworth Is Ready for Old Miss

By WICK TEMPLE

FAYETTEVILLE Ark. (AP) Lance Alworth, who may be the finest halfback Arkansas ever had, gets his last chance at an old foe Saturday when the Razorbacks tackle Mississippi in Jackson.

Alworth was signed to a Mississippi football scholarship when he graduated from Brookhaven, Miss., High School. But the Rebels dropped him when he married.

Then he came to Arkansas, and it's been uphill ever since for the 180 pound triple threat.

"I don't have to get ready for Ole Miss," he said. "I've been ready for three years. This is one I want to win."

His first time out against the Rebels as a sophomore, was a bust. They gauged him on a punt which lost seven yards and stopped him dead in the line. Ole Miss won, 28-0.

Last year at Little Rock, Alworth gained 49 yards against Ole Miss but didn't look like the performer who won All-Southwest Conference honors and All-American honorable mention later in the season.

Ole Miss won that game 10-7 on a disputed last-second field goal.

This year Alworth will be running, punting and passing against the Rebels for keeps, and with some new twists. Coach Frank Broyles has withdrawn Alworth from the running quick kick and dropped him back in punt formation where he can get off better boots. He had a 33.4 average last year, mostly because of the difficult running kicks.

The Rebels were laying for him last year, but this time that tactic won't work because Arkansas' right halfback, Paul Dudley, is just as dangerous on a given play as Alworth. Broyles said neither will be used primarily as a decoy but the defense won't be able to set heavily against them.

"With a running mate like Dudley I won't get hit as often," Alworth said. Dudley returns from scholastic ineligibility.

Alworth has worked on his passing in fall drills and blends well in that department with the Porkers' dual quarterback combination of George McKinney and Billy Moore.

The likable senior is inevitably compared with the man he replaced at left half—Jim Mooty. That little setback was All-America in 1959 on running ability alone. Alworth has more break away speed and does the other things better but whether he can eat up the yardage in his senior year as Mooty did remains to be seen.

Alworth led the nation in punt returns last year with 18 for 307 yards, a 17.1 average. He averaged 23.4 yards on 14 kickoff returns and gained 375 yards rushing on 106 carries for a 3.54 average. In addition, he caught 12 passes for 243 yards.

He's president of the senior class, a top prelaw student, and the father of a son, Lance Jr.

There's just one thing bothering him—he wants to play defense. "I really have hopes of getting in some defense this year—maybe against Mississippi," he said. But Broyles is almost certain to turn thumbs down on that.

Arkansas and Mississippi meet in a stadium dedication at Jackson as champions of their respective conferences. Ole Miss won the Sugar Bowl game in its last outing and Arkansas lost in the Cotton Bowl to Duke. Alworth was the outstanding back in that fracas.

He played no baseball (a game he dearly loves) this summer and worked hard academically to get ahead for football season.

Alworth thinks that playing Ole Miss first (for the first time) has helped the Porkers get ready for the campaign. "Everybody's worked a lot harder," he said. This is the last regularly scheduled contest between the old rivals.

Arkansas is after its third straight Southwest Conference title and Alworth feels the Hogs will get it. "I just hope we're as lucky as we were last year," he said. "If we are..."

Typhoon Blowing Out in Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Typhoon Nancy was blowing itself out in the North Pacific today after cutting a swath of death and destruction across Japan.

The human toll rose to 175 dead, 13 missing, 3,186 injured and more than 600,000 homeless. Crop damage was estimated at $130 million and property loss at another $100 million.

The storm struck a blow at the Japanese economy and the price of fish in Tokyo, which escaped the brunt of the wind, rose 20 percent.

The full force of the storm ripped through a string of cities on the Japan South Sea coast and through northern Honshu and Hokkaido.

An American spokesman said damage to U.S. military bases in Japan was light and no Americans were reported injured.

STOP, LOOK AND MARVEL—That's the rule in Kruger National Park, an 8,000-square-mile game preserve in South Africa. Above, a four-ton elephant ambles across the tourist road. Animals never bother a car as long as occupants stay quietly inside (fumes from exhaust kill human scent).

PREDATORY PEDESTRIANS—Two female lions walking unconcernedly along a tourist road in Kruger Big Game National Park, South Africa, provide a thrill for motorists. Humans are perfectly safe as long as they stay inside their cars. A 600-mile-long fence, the world's largest, is being erected around the park to protect animals like these in their natural habitat.

Walnut Ridge Man Wins Spa Meet

Fenwick Fires 69 for Top Golf Honors

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Henry Fenwick fired an opening round 69 to win medalist honors and take the lead in the City of Hope championship play Sunday. With 18 more holes to be played Oct. 1, low medal scores determine the winners of each flight.

Only 15 players qualified for the meet, so flights were changed from eight to five men each. First prize is $10 in merchandise and second is $5.

Results: Championship Flight: Henry Fenwick 69; Homer Beyersley, 70; Charles Carver 72; Jim Smith 76; Russell Carver 76.

1st Flight: Mitch LaGrone 79; Buster Royston 82; Edwin Stewart 83; E. J. Whitman 85 and George Wright 86.

2nd Flight: J. C. Atchley 87; Roy Taylor 87; Royce Smith 88; Lynn Harris 88 and Jim Pilkinton 95.

Ed Bouchee tied it with a three run clout in the second after Bill Williams singled and Ron Santo walked. In the sixth, Zimmer led off with his 12th homer, and after staff, worn thin by constant juggling in the chase and depleted by the absence of Johnny Podres at run, the Dodgers started rookie right hander Phil Ortega.

Ortega, who had given up two homers in two innings in his first stint since his recall from Spokane added three more Monday night before departing after 5 1-3 innings with his first loss.

The bid to get by with Ortega against the seventh place Cubs, losers of eight in a row, failed as Chicago starter Don Cardwell checked the Dodgers on four hits over the final eight innings.

Cardwell (14-12) gave up three runs in the first on Maury Wills' single, a walk to Wally Moon, Duke Snider's run producing double and a two run single by Norm Larker. Then he shut the door while his teammates scored all their runs on homers.

Workers Told to Get New Jobs

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

BERLIN (AP)—Communist authorities today told East Berliners who used to work in West Berlin to take new jobs in Red industry or face deportation to the provinces.

An estimated 80,000 residents of East Berlin and its suburbs used to work in West Berlin. They had to quit when the Communists threw up their barrier between the two parts of the city on Aug. 13.

Today the government of East Berlin published a notice that former commuters could take new jobs only with the consent of the official labor office. Those who do not have jobs yet were ordered to report to local branches of the labor office or be subject to the last decree.
